

Media, Biography & Public Profile Release

This release grants NBWSR permission to use approved personal and professional information for organizational, educational, promotional, and public awareness purposes. During onboarding you choose, item by item, what you authorize.

Permission to use name & professional information

You may grant permission to use your full name, professional title, credentials, certifications, awards, professional biography, organization/employer name, geographic location (province/territory), and professional experience summary.

Permission to use images

You may grant permission to use your professional headshot and approved photographs, in both print and digital formats.

Permitted uses

Approved materials may be used for: the organizational website (Advisory Council, Board, instructor, and committee profiles); educational materials, publications, and reports; marketing and communications (brochures, presentations, sponsorship packages, newsletters, social media, media releases); funding and partnership activities (grant applications, sponsorship proposals, partnership presentations, government submissions); and historical and archival records (annual reports, organizational history, program documentation).

Profile approval & accuracy

NBWSR will provide you an opportunity to review your public profile before publication whenever reasonably possible, and you may request corrections to your name, title, credentials, biography, and professional affiliations at any time.

Organizational affiliations & logos

NBWSR may identify your professional affiliation descriptively but shall not imply that your employer, agency, Indigenous community, or affiliated institution endorses NBWSR unless separate written authorization is obtained. Organizational logos are used only with separate permission from the logo owner.

Ownership, no compensation & withdrawal

You retain ownership of your personal image, biography, credentials, publications, and intellectual property; this release grants NBWSR a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to use approved materials. No compensation is owed. You may withdraw this authorization by written notice; NBWSR will make reasonable efforts to remove future uses and update website content, though previously printed materials and archived records may remain unchanged.